Secretary's Speech Approved in Advance By the President

NEW YORK (P) - Secretary of State John Foster Dulles issued a clear-cut warning to the Soviet Union today that its campaign of atomic threats against U. S. Allies will never shatter the free world

". . . Such Soviet assaults will not disintegrate the free world," he declared in his first major foreign policy speech since Oct. 27,

"Collective measures are here to stay."

At the same time Dulles called for an East-West agreement on disarmament by "steps carefully measured and carefully taken." He said modern weapons have such "vast destructive power" there would be "no real victor" in any general war.

Billed as Major Speech

Dulles' speech, prepared for delivery to the Associated Press annual lunch and carried to the nation by radio and television, was billed by the White House as a "major" foreign policy pronouncement. In it he also:

-Called anew for "liberation" of Soviet satellite nations but said this country does "not incite violent revolt" by the satellites: "rather ve encourage an evolution to freedom." He said freedom of the satellites is sought "not in order to circle Russia with hostile forces" but because otherwise "peace is in jeopardy and freedom a mockery." He pledged the United States will "never make a political settlement" at the expense of the satellites.

-Said the chief deterrent to aggression is U. S. "mobile retaliatory power" that must be , its potential." But "vast in he added the "extent to which it The President wore a single- would be used would . . . depend day, and thousands of other per- breasted Oxford gray silk suit, on circumstances." -Warned of Soviet "intrigue" in the Middle East and pledged the United States to seek a "durable" peace based on "justice and the rule of law" in the troubleridden Holy Land area. He said this cannot be done "quickly or all at once."

-Put in a strong plug for the administration's economy - threatened foreign aid program, asserting Americans will have to pay for "vastly" bigger national de-

Dulles' speech was approved in advance by President Eisenhower. It followed a string of recent Moscow declarations to France, Norway, Greece, Turkey, Denmark, Spain and other American Allies that they are inviting atomic retaliation by participating in free world defense strategy based in part on rockets, missiles, and atomic weapons.

Dulles said "the men in the Kremlin stole, one by one, the independence of a dozen nations" and Soviet rulers would prefer the free nations to be weak and divid-

Another possibility is young Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who nearly beat Kefauver to the vice presidential tape at Chicago in 1956. He took defeat be elected in the future. with such grace and good sportsmanship that his party standing since then seems greatly enhanced.

He is in tremendous demand everywhere as a speaker, but is concentrating on his home state. where he must run again in 1958. And there is as yet no visible organized movement by others to press his presidential candidacy.

The Democratic field could be wide. Sen. Stuart Symington, a 1956 dark horse, will be mentioned. And wholly new prospects may well arise from the Democrats' big stable of governors and newly elected senators.

But it is so quiet that one would almost think politicians were not thinking about politics. And surely that cannot be. Something must be going on somewhere.

AMERICA'S ON THE MOVE! In 1900, factory sales of passenger automobiles in the U.S.A. totalled fewer than 5,000. Today, it is estimated that more than 50 million motor vehicles ply our highways; that this is only a foretaste of things to come. At the end of 1955, the books of the nation's banks showed more than $5 billion in outstanding credit for auto purchases. Ever alert to the changing needs of the nation, banks have played-and continue to play-an important part in America's unparalleled move to motorization.
